

The TypeFinder® Personality Test

RESULTS FOR GUEST

JUNE 16, 2019, 3:56 AM

Congratulations! You've completed the TypeFinder.

Phew! You just answered 130 questions about your personality. Nice work!

Let's dive right in and see what we've found about your personality type. But first, a note:

This is a "sneak peek" at your results. This free, basic report shows you how you scored on each of the four major dimensions of personality. You'll learn about the fundamental elements that make up your personality type, and what these four factors mean for your life. You'll also get a hint at the additional depth and detail you can discover if you unlock your full report ($29).

With that out of the way, let's take a look at your results!

The Elements of Your Personality

We'll begin by looking at the four major dimensions of personality, and showing you how you scored on each dimension. Each dimension provides a broad description of how you approach things in a fundamental aspect of your life: how you manage your energy, relate to others, process thoughts and feelings, and organize your daily activities.

Introversion vs. Extraversion

This dimension describes how you manage your energy. Your preference for Introversion or Extraversion relates to how readily you express yourself, how easily you warm up to new people, and the extent to which you engage with the world around you. But most fundamentally, this dimension relates to whether you are energized by time alone, or time with other people.

Introverts are energized by being quiet, reflective, and calm. They maintain a distance from the outside world and prefer to conserve their energy.

Introverts enjoy:

- Contemplating ideas and experiences
- Being in calm surroundings
- Exploring a subject in depth
- Reflecting on thoughts or feelings
- Maintaining distance and privacy
- Quiet and solitude

Extraverts are energized by engaging with other people. They approach the world enthusiastically and want to experience the excitement of life.

Extraverts enjoy:

- Interacting with people
- Being in busy surroundings
- Engaging with the outside world
- Expressing thoughts and feelings
- Being noticed by others
- Stimulation and activity

Your dominant energy style is Extraversion.

Your responses were 63% consistent with a preference for Extraversion, and 37% consistent with a preference for Introversion.

As an Extravert, you are primarily focused outward, on the world around you. You seek stimulation and activity and enjoy busy environments. You are energized by activity and by interacting with other people. You tend to be talkative and express yourself easily.

Sensing vs. Intuition

This dimension describes how you process information. Your preference for Sensing or Intuition indicates whether your style of thinking is straightforward, factual, and concrete, or creative, interpretive, and abstract. Sensors and Intuitives tend to be interested in different kinds of information, with Sensors more interested in facts and details, and Intuitives more interested in ideas.

Sensors process information in a concrete, realistic way. They focus on observing and recalling facts and details.

Sensors focus on:

- Observing sights, sounds, sensations
- Noticing details
- Experiencing the present moment
- Concrete, provable facts
- Realism and practicality
- Knowledge from past experience

Intuitives process information in an abstract, imaginative way. They focus on ideas and concepts that cannot be directly observed.

Intuitives focus on:

- Observing patterns and connections
- Interpreting meaning
- Imagining potential
- Ideas and concepts
- Innovation and creativity
- Possibilities for the future

Your cognitive style is blended, with a slight preference for Intuition.

Your responses were 51% consistent with a preference for Intuition, and 49% consistent with a preference for Sensing.

Your energy style is a blend of Sensing and Intuition, and as such, you are neither a pure Sensor nor a pure Intuitive. Because you do show a slight preference for Intuition, we can classify you as an Intuitive type. However, it's more accurate to say that you are a bit of both Sensor and Intuitive: you tend to use both styles in processing information, and you may switch from one to the other depending on the demands of your environment.

Thinking vs. Feeling

This dimension describes your orientation to personal values. Your preference for Thinking or Feeling can be thought of as your preference for "head versus heart" in your decision making. This dimension relates to how you prioritize conflicting values, and whether you tend to feel more comfortable relying on logic and reason, or emotions and personal judgments.

Thinkers value logic, competence, and objectivity. They believe that every person has a responsibility to take care of him or herself.

Thinkers are concerned with:

- Using logical reasoning
- Being unbiased and impartial
- Considering costs and benefits
- Seeking consistency and justice
- Keeping a competitive edge
- Making objective decisions

Feelers value empathy, cooperation and compassion. They believe that everyone has a responsibility to take care of those around them.

Feelers are concerned with:

- Acting out ideals
- Engaging emotions
- Considering the impact on people
- Seeking harmony and appreciation
- Serving others
- Making authentic decisions

Your values style is blended, with a slight preference for Feeling.

Your values style is a blend of Thinking and Feeling, and as such, you are neither an absolute Thinker nor an absolute Feeler. Because you do show a slight preference for Feeling, we can classify you as an Feeler type. However, it's more accurate to say that you are a bit of both Thinker and Feeler: you tend to use both styles in processing information, and you may switch from one to the other depending on the demands of your environment.

Perceiving vs. Judging

This dimension of personality describes how you manage your life. Your preference for Perceiving vs. Judging has to do with your orientation toward structure, schedules, deadlines, and organization. It also has to do with how you tend to manage your time and approach the work you have to do.

Perceivers like freedom and spontaneity. They have a carefree attitude towards life and would rather be flexible than structured.

Perceivers prefer to:

- Follow the whims of the moment
- Make the rules up as they go
- Have the freedom to be flexible
- Brainstorm options
- Do things when inspiration strikes
- Go with the flow and enjoy surprises

Judgers like structure and order. They keep organized and plan ahead, resist distractions, and stay focused on their goals.

Judgers prefer to:

- Create a plan and stick to it
- See a task through to completion
- Adhere to a schedule
- Set goals and maintain focus
- Follow rules and regulations
- Set clear expectations

Your dominant life management style is Judging.

As a Judger, you prefer to approach your life with a sense of structure and order. You like things planned and scheduled, and dislike unexpected changes. You tend to maintain systems of organization appreciate structured environments. It is important to you to follow through on your promises, and you consider yourself responsible and reliable.

Your Personality Type Code

Now, let's take a look at how the elements of your personality combine to create your personality type. Your personality type is the sum of your preferred style on each of the four major dimensions.

We use four-letter codes to describe each personality type. To create these codes, we abbreviate each preference with a single letter, for instance E for Extraverted or N for Intuitive. Then we combine the four letters into a personality type like INTJ or ESFP.

The following chart shows your top 3 personality type matches.

ENFJ - The Teacher

VERY GOOD MATCH

ENFJs are idealist organizers, driven to implement their vision of what is best for humanity. They often act as catalysts for human growth because of their ability to see potential in other people and their charisma in leading others.

ESFJ - The Provider

VERY GOOD MATCH

ESFJs are conscientious helpers, sensitive to the needs of others and energetically dedicated to their responsibilities. ESFJs like a sense of harmony and cooperation around them, and are eager to please and provide.

ENTJ – The Commander

GOOD MATCH

ENTJs are strategic leaders, motivated to organize change. They are quick to see inefficiency and conceptualize new solutions, and enjoy developing long-range plans to accomplish their vision.

Your Personality Profile

Your Core Values:

Compassion
Cooperation
Altruism
Responsibility

Your Key Motivators:

Helping people reach their potential
Making ideals into reality
Working as a team
Accomplishing meaningful goals

You want close, supportive connections with others, and believe that cooperation is the best way to get things done. You like to be liked and are very sensitive to feedback, both positive and negative. You expect the best not just from yourself, but from others as well, and may find yourself disappointed when others are not as genuine in their intentions as you are. You work hard to maintain strong relationships, and strive to be a valuable member of your family and community.

You are typically energetic and driven, and often have a lot on your plate. You are tuned into the needs of others and acutely aware of human suffering; however, you also tend to be optimistic and forward-thinking, intuitively seeing opportunity for improvement. You are ambitious, but your ambition is not self-serving; rather, you feel personally responsible for making the world a better place.

What You Need to Know

You’ve got questions about who you are and what makes you tick. Maybe you’re wondering why you can’t find a career that suits you. Maybe you’re trying to figure out how to handle a relationship that keeps going sideways. Maybe you’re trying to solve the mystery of why you always feel just a little bit...different.

We've spent three years and thousands of hours researching personality type, testing and retesting theories, and crunching more data than you can shake a stick at. And we did it all for one and only one reason: so you can answer those questions. Because it's hard to feel confident in yourself if you're not exactly sure who you really are. It's confusing to go through life not knowing why your perspective doesn't always line up with other people's. And it's nearly impossible to make big life decisions when you're not sure what will ultimately make you happy.

You could keep guessing. You could keep taking free quizzes that only scratch the surface of your personality and give you generic, one-size-fits-all info about yourself. But honestly, that kind of seems like a waste of time. Why not stop filling out endless questionnaires and focus on what's really going to make a difference in your quest to understand yourself? Why not get a detailed, accurate report (/upgrade-test-results/7974120) that can actually answer all those tough questions?

The result gives me a sense of how I look at things and my communication skill. It will be a full 5 stars if they can provide more information on the career choices as not a days jobs are more hybrid than standalone. Example, an accountant used to be bookkeeper but nowadays they need to be a business partner.

Since I have discovered the Jung/MBTI personality testing methodology I have done quite some tests. Of all the tests I have taken so far this is by far the most comprehensive one. With all the explanations and thorough analysis of all aspects of my personality I truly get the feeling that this an accurate typology of my Jungian personality type. Also, the matching with all 16 types is very innovative and a great extra. Now you can really see an individual percentage for for how well you match with each type, while other similar tests just show you your best match. This test is very insightful and a I wholeheartedly recommend it to all Jung/MBTI enthusiasts.
